Final Rejection

Applicant's arguments filed 10/27/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for reasons detailed below.

The 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections are maintained or modified as follows:

Claim 11 recites the limitation "said drive means" (ln. 2). There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

The prior art rejections are maintained or modified as follows:

Claims 1-2, 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rapley (US '850).

As previously stated:

Rapley teaches an arrangement (Fig. 1) comprising an incoming conveyor (7) and a downwardly moving conveyor (5) with projecting carriers (4), wherein a curved guide space defined by guide rails (8,9) faces the incoming conveyor and curves downwards. Hereinafter, Applicant is respectfully reminded that claim language consisting of functional language and/or intended use phrasing is given little, if any, patentable weight as the apparatus must merely be capable of functioning, or being used, as claimed. See MPEP 2112.02, 2114. Here, the guide rails are regarded as capable of turning a timber piece downwards, the carriers are regarded as capable of inclining obliquely downwards during their operation and of forming a tangent with the curving path of the guide space.

Applicant's argument that Rapley fails to teach downwardly inclined carriers is not persuasive. Rapley teaches carrier tips (4) that are inclined obliquely downwardly during downward operations of the conveyor (Fig. 1, beneath sprocket 11). Here, it is also noted that the tips can be regarded as tangential to the guide space while rotating around the sprocket (11). Further, since the tips function to carry materials downward, as previously noted, it is regarded as reasonable to regard these tips as carriers.

Therefore, as Applicant's arguments are unpersuasive, the claims stand finally rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12, 13, 16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rapley in view of Fluck (US '600).

Rapley as set forth above teaches all that is claimed except for expressly teaching stationary guide rails, wherein said guide rails may comprise inner or outer rails that diverge. This feature, however, is well-known in the conveying arts. For instance, Fluck teaches stationary inner and outer guide rails (Fig. 1, near 2 and 10) that diverge in a curved conveying space. Moreover, these rails can be regarded as a functional equivalent to the rails used by Rapley that one with skill in the art would use when seeking to convey different types and shapes of materials. Therefore, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention of Rapley as taught above when seeking to convey different types and shapes of materials.

Claim Objections

Claims 20 and 21 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claims 20 and 21 should read "The arrangement" (ln. 1).

Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3, 4, 6, 7, 9-10, 14, 15, 17 and 20-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim 19 is allowed.

Examiner has maintained the prior art rejections, statutory rejections and drawing objections as previously stated and as modified above. Applicant's amendment necessitated any new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a). The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
